Largest Crab.
In the American Museum of Natural History in New York is a wonder of marine life. It is a gigantic Japanese crab, measuring twelve feet across, making it the largest in the world. The specimen is a type of the spider crab, which inhabits the waters of the group of islands forming the empire of Japan. The body portion of the crab is the size of a half bushel measure, while its great arms could easily encircle the figure of a man. Its legs resemble poles and are extremely elastic, and if strung into one line they would reach to the top of a four story apartment building.—New York Herald.

FROM SUNNY SOUTH.

Eight Gloucester Fishermen Got Home Thursday Morning.

Have Been Winter Snapper Fishing Out of Galvestown.

Messrs. William Mosher, Daniel McPhee, Henry Boushee, Alex. McDonald, William Taylor, John McDonald and a few other well known Gloucester fishermen arrived home here yesterday from Galveston, Texas, where they have been engaged in red snapper fishing the past winter.

They report a very good fishing season, most of them doing well. They had not seen a bit of frost since leaving here, and the people of the city said it was the best winter they had had for 15 years. Flowers were in bloom all the time and the fruit was ripe when they left to come north.

The weather had also been fine on the fishing grounds of Campeche bank and other spots, and had it not been for getting the fins of the fish stuck in them, they could have fished at the rail in their bare feet. Capt. McKenzie, who formerly fished out of this port for several years, was commander of one of the fleet out there and was one of the highliners, but when the Gloucester men left a spell and was working at rigging. They also report that there will be another fishing firm at Galveston next season and that this summer a representative of the concern is coming here to either purchase or have built six or seven vesels, fit them out here and take crews here and have them at

May.11. CASES NOT YET SETTLED

Until Passed Upon by British Privy Council.

SAYS CONGRESSMAN GARDNER.

Regarding Recent Decision of Newfoundland Supreme Court

Wishing to ascertain how the recent decision of the Newfoundland supreme court in the case of Crane and Dubois, the two Newfoundland fishermen who were arrested for shipping on sch. Ralph L. Hall, contrary to the provisions of Newfoundland local law, but permitted by the modus vivendi between this country and England, was considered in Washington, the Times yesterday afternoon telegraphed to Congressman A. P. Gardner, who is at the capital for a few days, the following message:

"What effect will the recent decision of the Newfoundland supreme court on the case of the Newfoundland men, shipped on sch. Ralph L. Hall at Bay of Islands last year, have on the possible renewal of the modus vivendi with England this fall, or what effect will it have on other negotiations with England, looking to a complete settlement of the whole Newfoundland United States fisheries dispute?"

Last evening the Times received the following reply;

"I do not regard the Crane and Dubois cases as settled until passed upon by the British privy council. It is impossible for me to comment upon decision of Newfoundland supreme court until the exact wording is at hand. I have sent for original document as cable account is meagre.

"A. P. Gardner."

The opinion of Congressman Gardner that the cases are not settled until passed upon by British privy council can very well be considered, also, as the general opinion of official at Washington, for on matters of this nature, affecting the New England fisheries and New England troubles, he keeps in close touch with the state department and probably knows its feeling and opinion on matters of this kind better than any except the heads of that department themselves.

KEEPING UP GOOD WORK.

Nine More Seiners at Fulton Market This Morning

SCH. ELECTRIC FLASH'S FARE

Skippers Grumble and Growl at Continued Bad Weather.

And still the good work keeps up out south among the seiners and the mackerel schools and this morning finds nine more vessels at Fulton market, with good fares of fresh ones. The crafts are:

Sch. Helen G. Wells, Capt. Edward Mc-Lean, 8000 large fresh mackerel, 2000 medium fresh mackerel.

Sch. Lizzie M. Stanley, Capt. Joshua W. Stanley, 16,000 medium fresh mackerel. Sch. Constellation, Capt. Thaddeus Mor-mackerel. Sch. Electric Flash, Capt. William Bissert, 15,000 large fresh mackerel, 15,000 medium fresh mackerel.

Sch. Victor, Capt. John W. McFarland, 8000 medium fresh mackerel.

Sch. Marguerite Haskins, 9000 medium fresh mackerel.

Just as we go to press a despatch from New York announces the arrival of sch. Romance, Capt. William Corkum, with a big fare, 30,000 medium fresh mackerel in count and also sch. Priscilla Smith, Capt. William J. Corkum, with a nice trip 20,000 medium fresh mackerel in count.

All the vessels with fares of medium mackerel have some large mackerel mixed in with Yesterday a ernoon and this morning the fish were selling at 20 cents each for large ar-8 cents each for mediums. *

This is the second trip for sens. Helen G. Wells and Lizzie M. Stanley, the fourth for sch. Constellation, the first for schs. Electric Flash and Victor, and the third for sch. Saladin and Marguerite Haskins.

Capt. William Bissert of sch. Electric Flash has one of the largest fares of the season, hailing for 300 barrels, calling his fish about 30,000 in count, half of them being arge. At present prices the schooner will make a fine stock.

Thus far there are but 16 of the fleet which have sailed south from here that have not landed a fare.

Up to noon today, 42 different vessels of the southern seining fleet have been in with ish and have landed in all 83 fares. Beside hese, one netter has been in and three netters have shipped fish to New York. catch to date is more than double that of last year at this time.

Sch. Helen G. Wells, which arrived at New York yesterday afternoon, had in a new lowsprit, which she had stepped at Staten Island a week ago yesterday. It is thought that she lost the other stick by having been It is thought run into on the fishing grounds.

The total importations of salt mackerel at the port of Boston for the season to date have been 41,780 bbls. against 45,389 bbls. in 1906, 30,322 bbls. in 1905 and 49,070 bbls. in 1901 19,070 bbls. in 1904.

The catch of fresh mackerel to date up to 10 o'clock by the New England fleet has been about 10,200 bbls. against 4900 bbls. in 1906, 5551 bbls. in 1906 and 9931 bbls, in 1904.

One of the crew of a southern seiner who left the vessel at New York recently came uome here yesterday. He reports that nothing but the worst kind of weather has prevented the fleet making one of the biggest atches made out south in years. He said that it had been almost constant blowy, stormy, and foggy weather since the fleet tirst got out there, and that some of the sets for schools were made at great risk, the skippers and men, all nerved up at the sight of so many fish, taking desperate chances and risking life and seineboat in their attempts to make a haul.
